

What happens as we hire more workers?

More workers produce more units

As more workers are hired, the total product increase

What happens as we hire more workers?

More workers produce more units

As more workers are hired, the total product increase

As more workers are hired, the total product increase