500 billion + 200 billion + 2,300 billion = 3,000 billion of New Money

We still need to study what is it that the Fed buys and who sold it...

For now, all you need to know is that the Fed injected 3 trillion new money which was not circulating before

March 15, 2020

With the fast-spreading coronavirus posing a dire threat to economic growth, the Federal Reserve unveiled a sweeping set of programs in an effort backstop the United States economy. The Fed said it would inject $500 billion in purchases of Treasury securities and at least $200 billion in purchases of mortgage-backed debt “over coming months.”

June 10, 2020

The Federal Reserve said it could pump $2,300 billion into the economy ramping up its efforts to help companies and state and local governments suffering financial damage from the coronavirus.

The measures push the Fed far beyond anything it attempted in the 2008 financial crisis.
