

138M

Employed

Unemployed
16M

Labor Force = 138 + 16 = 154

U

rate

—

—

$$(16 / 154)^* 100 = 10.4\%$$

$$\text{New Lf} = 138 + 15 = 153$$

New UU_r =

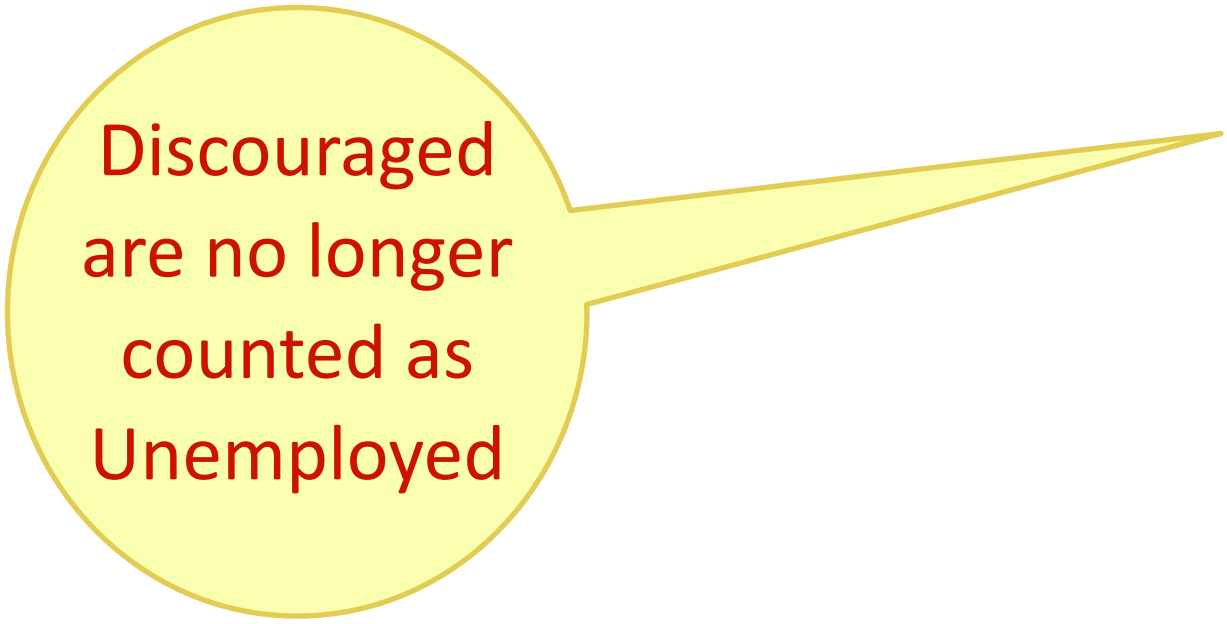

$$(15/153)*100 = 9.8\%$$

New Unemployed
 $16 - 1 = 15$

1M give up
looking for work

An increase in the number of discouraged workers results in a decrease in the unemployment rate!

Discouraged
are no longer counted as Unemployed

$$U_{\text{rate}} = (16 / 154) * 100 = 10.4\%$$

$$\text{New LF} = 138 + 15 = 153$$

$$\text{New } U_r = (15 / 153) * 100 = 9.8\%$$

An increase in the number of discouraged workers results in a decrease in the unemployment rate!

The Longer the Recession lasts,