

As more workers are hired, the total product increase

The second worker produces another 5 units, so 2 workers produce 10 units

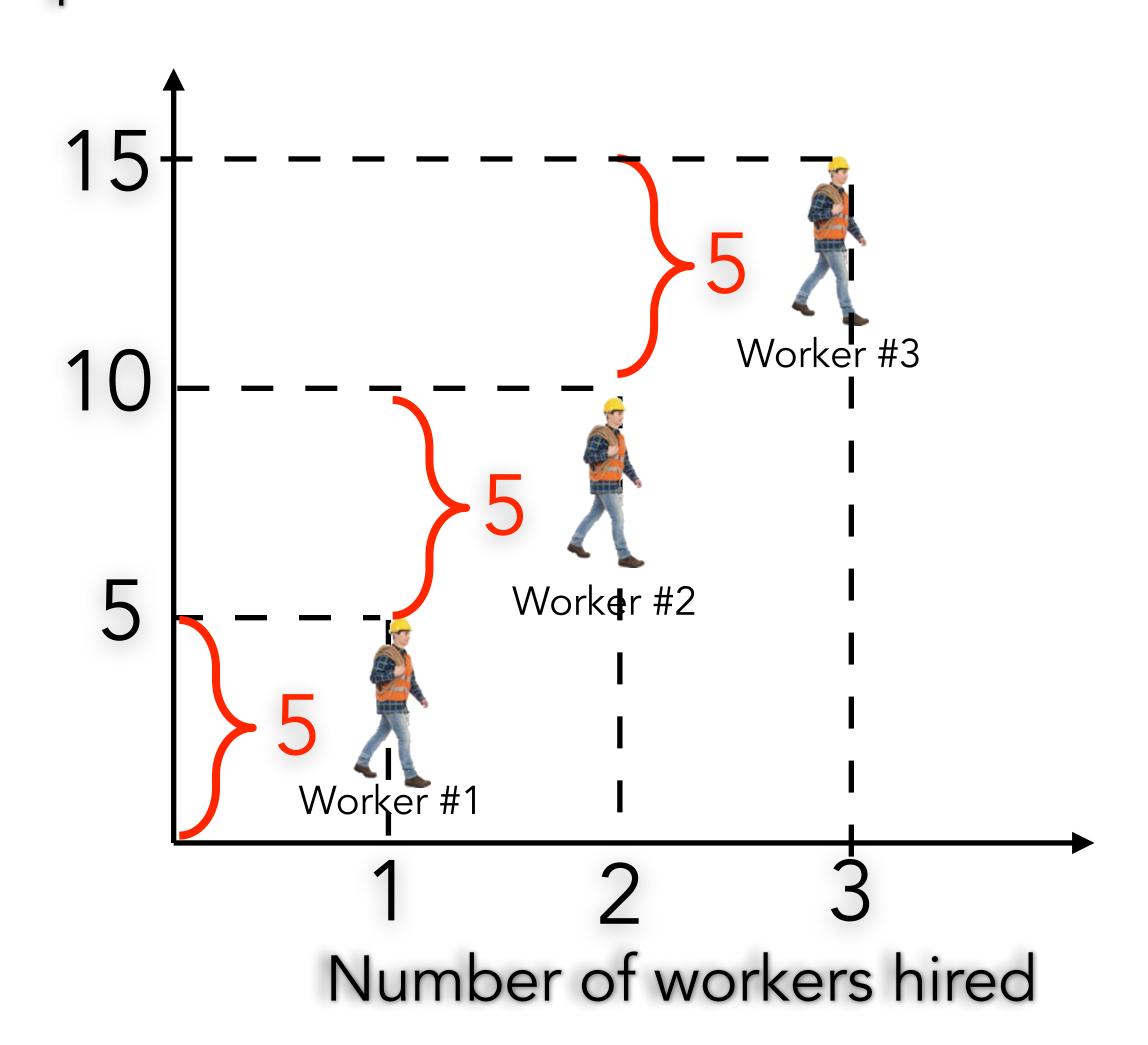

The third worker produces another 5 units

Units of output produced

Units of output produced

As more workers are hired, the total product increase